

Fragment/Run-On Activity

Directions: Please read the following paragraph. Find at least one sentence fragment and underline it. Then, correct the correct it in 2 different ways (either by adding something to it or hooking it up to another sentence).

After you are done with that, find at least one run-on sentence and circle it. Now, correct the run-on sentence in the three different ways we learned (using a period, a semi-colon and a comma)

The inception of mandatory testing in 2001. The number of broken records in baseball has seen a dramatic decline. In fact, “since 2002, the total number of home runs hit in the past three years has decreased by forty percent” (“Change” 77). Obviously, this decline is, in large part, due to MLB’s crack down on the use of steroids this decline shows the huge impact that the use of steroids has had on statistics. If major league baseball does not continue to police its players, the game itself will become a ruse in which only those willing to sacrifice their morals and bodies are able to successful.
