

Journeying Toward Success: Writing and Composition

Bonus Material 1:

E.B. White's "Once More to the Lake" can be found here:

<http://www.moonstar.com/~acpjr/Blackboard/Common/Essays/OnceLake.html>

Bonus Material 2:

"This is Getting Fascinating" by Lindsea Kemp-Wilbur

Bonus Material 3:

For personal essay inspiration, read

Writers [on Writing]: Collected Essays from The New York Times. New York Times: 2001.

Bonus Material 4:

Suggested Website:

www.writing.com

If you are interested in writing personal essays, or other types of creative writing, this website gives you the opportunity to post your own writing portfolio. Its free membership offers many other writer tools as well as newsletters geared toward your specific interests. Check it out!

Bonus Material 5:

If you would like a more informal, journal-type writing format where you can instantly publish your writing (and photos, favorite links, etc.), consider starting a personal blog. Some free websites that allow you to host your blog are:

www.blogger.com

www.wordpress.com

www.livejournal.com

Bonus Material 6:

Want some great reasons to start blogging? Visit this blog entry:

<http://www.writertechnology.com/2008/06/9-reasons-for-writers-to-blog#more-314>

The blog from where this entry emerged can be found here:

www.writertechnology.com

This blog discusses how writers can improve their blogging skills, use blogging tools, and improve their writing through the use of the latest technology. Wow! You can subscribe.